

Why we're unlooping your electricity supply

WHAT?

Unlooping is the process of separating shared electricity supply connections between properties, providing each household with its own dedicated supply.

WHO?

Ipsum is working on behalf of your electricity provider, Electricity North West, to unloop your property. The work will take place over a number of months from May.

WHY?

Electricity North West are taking proactive action to unloop properties as part of work to achieve the UK Government's ambitious Net Zero targets. It will support the transition to cleaner, sustainable energy.

Benefits of the work:

Enhanced reliability and improved energy efficiency

Homes with independent electrical supplies are more attractive in the housing market

Upgrades completed with no cost to homeowners and tenants

Our team will be fundraising for The Christie as part of the project

A dedicated Community Support Officer available to address concerns and provide support
